

“The All-Clad Gourmet Ovenware, with it’s beautifully designed handles, is perfect for casual entertaining – and produces the highest quality cooking performance that I have come to expect from All-Clad”

Carole Walter

Carole Walter is a renowned patisserie and culinary chef with a passion for baking and explicit attention to detail that shines through in every recipe. She is a master baker, cooking teacher and award-winning cookbook author, recipient of the James Beard Foundation Award for Excellence and the International Association of Culinary Professionals (IACP) Cookbook Awards.

A Certified Culinary Professional, Carole has taught baking and cooking for over 25 years in the New York metropolitan area as well as in schools across the United States. Carole studied patisserie in Austria, Denmark, France and Italy and in the United States. She has appeared on major network television shows and is a frequent guest on talk radio.

For more information about Carole Walter, please visit www.carolewalter.com